CAPTURE OF JUNCTION SEALS FIVE DIVISIONS

London, Feb. 7.—(P)—Triumphant Red army forces have encircled more German infantry divisions at Nikolai in the Dnieper bend, Moscow announced last night, and today the Russians were reported cutting these units to pieces while tightening a noose around the remnants of 100,000 Nazi troops previously trapped near Cherkasy.

Moscow dispatches indicated that a total of perhaps 175,000 of Germany's finest troops faced certain death, capture or starvation in the two Ukrainian pockets. A captured German officer, revealing the soldiers in the Cherkasy trap are eating but one meal daily, declared

Up-Off on Russia's Intentions Comes in Moscow Broadcast Recorded in London

FILED REGIME SCORED

London, Feb. 7.—(P)—Russia today intimated that she planned to give her official backing to the establishment of a Polish state independent of the Polish government in London as a basis for settling vexing Polish territorial problems in her own way. This development coincided with bitter Soviet verbal attack on the Polish government and a sharp raid on the Finnish capital of Helsinki—attacks which were generally interpreted here as warnings to those countries to sever their connections with Germany.

The tipoff on Russia's intentions toward Poland came in a Moscow broadcast recorded by the Red army troops drive out the man invaders "a new Democratic Poland will arise and all conditions for friendly cooperation with the Ukrainian and Polish peoples will be created."

TOKYO TRIES TO COVER UP OWN CRIMES

Statement Broadcast by The Berlin Radio Charges British and Americans With Atrocities

ACTS OF MISTREATMENT

By the Associated Press. Sadao Iguchi, spokesman for the Japanese Board of Information, sought today to reply to United States and British charges of wholesale atrocities committed by Japan against captive civilians and prisoners of war—by citing what he said was the record of "numerous outrages" against Japanese.

"The Anglo-American campaign to spread hatred against Japan has been motivated by the desire to cover up their own crimes," Iguchi declared in a statement broadcast by the Berlin radio.

He charged that "many of the 2,400 Japanese women who were confined at the Japanese primary school in Davao (in the Philippines) were raped."

The first report of Iguchi's statement relayed by Berlin suggested that he was talking purely for a world audience with the object of countering as much as possible the effect on world opinion of Washington and London charges of brutality and bestiality toward Allied prisoners of war.

Iguchi cited what he said were some of the attacks "resulting in murder" and other acts of mistreatment against Japanese in the United States.

Iguchi charged that Japanese internees were confined in deplorable tents under adverse weather conditions at Fort Bliss, Tex., "in utter disregard of their suffering."

Japanese taken from Malaya and Burma by the British, he charged, were "thrown into holds of ships and sometimes into prisons and were almost completely robbed of their possessions."

Iguchi charged numerous instances of Allied air attacks on Japanese hospital ships and said these were "totally incompatible with the professed humanitarianism" of the British and Americans.

OVER 10,000 TONS COAL MINED SUNDAY

Scranton, Feb. 7.—(P)—Between 10,000 and 135,000 tons of anthracite was added to the nation's depleted stock piles today because 64 per cent of the industry's 80,000 miners heeded Secretary Jones' request for production on Sundays.

The U. S. Bureau of Mines, whose estimate of the number of men working yesterday was confirmed by operators, said the output was about 58 per cent of the weekday normal.

25,000 Made Idle By Work Stoppage

Cleveland, Feb. 7.—(P)—The executive board of the Independent Mechanics Educational Society of America scheduled a strategy meeting here today at the work stoppage of approximately 25,000 members in some 44 Michigan and Ohio war plants entered its fourth day.

MESA President George White and Secretary Matthew Smith said they were ignoring a National War Labor Board order to appear in Washington today for a hearing to determine whether sanctions should be applied against unionists participating in the walkout. Sanctions might include reclassification of the strikers from selective service or withholding of union benefits.

Although served in Detroit Saturday with a subpoena calling for his appearance at the WLB hearing, Smith declared "if the War Labor Board wants to see me in Washington, they will have to come and get me."

The U. S. Marshal's office in Detroit reported that a subpoena issued for White still awaited his return to that city.

EGGS ARE PLENTIFUL

Harrisburg, Feb. 7.—(P)—The Department of Agriculture reported today that egg supplies in Pennsylvania are plentiful. It said in a statement that supplies have grown because of shipments from the west, delayed egg-drying, mild winter weather and production increase is two to three weeks ahead of normal.

One hundred thousand Nazi troops face surrender or annihilation in encirclement west of Smolensk, while Red forces in the Stalingrad sector have added to the Wehrmacht's woes by sweeping across the Estonian border to rail center of Narva in bloody fighting.

State Republicans Unable To Decide on Senate Candidate

Harrisburg, Feb. 7.—(P)—Discussions of the possibility of U. S. Senator James J. Davis receiving the Republican nomination for reelection without opposition at the April primary were revived today with failure of the organization to bring out a senatorial candidate after weeks of conferences.

Democratic leaders got together on their ticket Friday, the day before nominating petitions could be circulated officially, and Republican chiefs had hoped to do likewise, but the week ended without agreement on the top candidate.

(Top Republican leaders met secretly in Philadelphia last night in a renewed effort to agree on a candidate, the Philadelphia Record said.)

(The conference lasted until after midnight with no decision reached. The Record reported there was "considerable reluctance" about supporting Davis, and that the field had narrowed to

Lieut. Gov. John C. Bell, Jr.; Senate Majority Leader Weldon B. Heyburn and State Secretary of Internal Affairs William S. Livingston, Jr.)

When Republican leaders started talking candidates at the annual New York last December a high source reported that Senator Davis, long at odds with the organization, had not been ruled out for support.

However, Attorney General James H. Duff's name came to the front at that time and at subsequent conferences as the organization's choice to oppose Davis, who is expected to seek a third elected term with or without support.

Duff then refused to make the race and the party chiefs turned to William S. Livingston, Jr., secretary of internal affairs. Democratic leaders, meantime, circulated petitions to place President Roosevelt's name on the Pennsylvania ballot as a candidate for a fourth term. Nominating petitions likewise were circulated for the state of candidates endorsed at Friday's state committee meeting, headed by Congressman Francis J. Myers, of Philadelphia, for the U. S. senate.

Invasion Coast Points Again Are Plastered

London, Feb. 7.—(P)—U. S. heavy and medium bombers plastered points on the French invasion coast and Nazi airfields in northern France for the second straight day yesterday on the heels of another RAF Mosquito stab against devastated Berlin and targets in western Germany Saturday night.

A joint U. S.-British communiqué said 11 Allied planes, including four heavy bombers, failed to return from the missions against France in which RAF and RAAF Mosquitos and Typhoons also participated. Seventeen German planes were destroyed.

Maintaining the most intensive period of daylight bombing of the war, one formation of bombers struck at the Nazis' forward positions in the Pas-de-Calais area while other waves pounded airfields at Evreux-Fauville, St. Andre de L'Esne, Caen, Chateaudun and St. Aubin. Fleets of Allied fighters escorted the bombers.

Reconnaissance photographs showed, meanwhile, that Saturday's American attacks on France had caused severe damage to six large German airfields, with at least 37 Nazi aircraft destroyed or damaged on the ground.

PARAMUSHIRO ATTACKED BY TASK FORCE

Harbor and Land Installations of Kurabu Point Badly Damaged in Assault

DEFENDERS SURPRISED

By MORRIS LANDSBERG Associated Press War Editor

The first United States naval bombardment of Japanese home territory—the northern stronghold of Paramushiro—was disclosed today as American control of Kwajalein atoll in the Marshalls brought the promise of intensified efforts to bomb and blockade the enemy's first-line bases in the Pacific.

Associated Press War Correspondent Norman Bell, in a dispatch from a destroyer in the north Pacific, told of a task force attack which battered the harbor and land installations of Kurabu point on the southern tip of Paramushiro, 790 miles southwest of Attu in the Aleutians, last Friday.

He said the bombardment caught the Japanese off their guard looking skyward for another in the series of aerial attacks which have caused the enemy uneasiness. Not a ship was hit. American planes were last reported to have raided the big base Jan. 20.

Paramushiro lies at the northern tip of the Kurile Islands, which include the Japanese mainland itself.

Far to the south, the smooth-moving campaign on Kwajalein in the flanking assault on the Marshalls provided the United States with a new jumping off place for attacks on other islands in the same group and for extending the Pacific drive to the powerful Carolines chain.

Only mopping-up of Japanese stragglers on a few coral cays apparently remained to achieve full conquest of the first pre-war Japanese territory taken by the Allies. Construction crews already were at work turning Kwajalein into an American sea and air stronghold exactly a week after the initial landings Jan. 31.

The Tokyo radio declared last night that "intense fighting is still in progress on Kwajalein island." Its broadcasters gave American troops a needed laugh with the "news" Saturday night that Roi and adjoining Nanur were still held by the emperor's forces.

Army bombers and navy carrier planes kept up the air assaults on other atolls in the Marshalls, striking Feb. 3, 4 and 5 at Jaluit, Eniwetok, Wotje, Maloelap, Mill and Utulag.

The Japanese lost between 24 and 30 more planes at Rabaul, New Britain, and Wewak, northern New Guinea, in Allied raids reported over the weekend. Bombers unloaded 167 tons of bombs on Cape Hoskins, enemy supply and refueling base on the north-central coast of New Britain.

Discharged War Vets are Drafted

Washington, Feb. 7.—(P)—Men wounded in action, discharged and then fully recovered, are being drafted again, it was disclosed today, and the War Department recognized the situation by ordering the veterans to be given their old ranks.

Some sergeants and corporals, it was said, had found themselves back in uniform as privates, after the reasons for their original discharge no longer existed.

Selective Service regulations permit re-drafting of veterans who again qualify. Some men wounded at Attu and at Iwo Jima in the Tunisian campaign have been recalled by their local boards, the army said.

Strong German Attack Which Breaks Through Allied Perimeter is Repulsed

ADVANCE AT CASSINO

By EDWARD KENNEDY Allied Headquarters, Algiers, Feb. 7.—(P)—American troops in the Anzio beachhead have repulsed a strong German attack which broke through the Allied perimeter, three miles west of the vital road and rail hub of Cisterna, and have restored their original positions, it was announced today.

Cisterna is astride the Apennine Way and an electrified railway 26 miles southeast of Rome, and about 19 miles east of Carroceto (Aprilia), where previous German counter-blows were blunted.

The Germans began the new assault Saturday evening with infantry, tanks and artillery. Fighting raged through the night and into yesterday, before the Nazis were pushed back to the starting point with losses.

In the raging battle for Cassino, American troops made new advances north and west of the town, a communiqué said.

Eighth Army troops also sprang forward on the Adriatic front, seizing Pizzoferrato and Montenerodomo in the Lanciano area, the announcement disclosed.

As fleets of fighters maintained patrols over the Anzio beachhead, medium bombers struck at rail yards and a bridge at Orte, north of Rome, and at Frascati, near the capital, while light bombers attacked at communications north and south of Rome. Medium bombers blasted shipping in Plorence harbor.

Thirteen Allied planes failed to return and 10 Nazi aircraft were destroyed, headquarters disclosed. Fierce fighting was reported yesterday in the northern part of the bridgehead, presumably above Carroceto (Aprilia), 21 miles below Rome. Allied headquarters said Fifth Army forces had "adjusted and consolidated" their positions.

The Nazis yesterday were reported to have been repulsed.

New York, Feb. 7.—(P)—Wendell L. Willkie will enter the Nebraska presidential primary on April 11 as a candidate for the Republican nomination for president, the New York Times said today in a special dispatch from North Platte, Neb.

The Times said that Willkie announced he would file in the primary during an interview yesterday in his special car on the Union Pacific Overland Limited carrying him on a tour of the northwest.

Political Holiday Proposed by Paper

Buffalo, N. Y., Feb. 7.—(P)—The fourth-term nomination of Franklin D. Roosevelt as a bi-party candidate, with an outstanding Republican as his vice presidential running mate, was proposed today by the Buffalo Courier-Express, an independent newspaper, in a page one editorial.

This is the first time the Courier-Express has supported Roosevelt. Urging a "complete holiday from national party politics in 1944," the editorial calls for Roosevelt's resignation when a European armistice has been signed, so that he may lead the American peace conference delegation.

Wilksburg Youth Center Pattern For Other Towns

Pittsburgh Feb. 7.—(P)—A youth center which takes youngsters off the streets and provides them with wholesome entertainment of their own creation promises to become all the rage with high school boys and girls of the Wilksburg area. More than 550 of them have joined up in the first two days of operation.

Set up with just a little adult backing and advice, the new "club" gives youths a place to dance, drink sodas, play games. The idea originated with the Wilksburg Lions Club but the actual work of organizing was done by a group of high school students.

To raise money for tables and chairs, the youngsters sold $1,000 worth of advertising on the tops of the tables. To keep members from carving the tables or writing on them, the committee provided whittling boards of soft pine and special wall panels dedicated exclusively to "doodling."

Howard Hartman, 17-year-old president of the group, says the center will finance itself. Applicants pay a 25-cent membership fee and an additional 50 cents per semester as an activity fee. Most of the members are students but anybody from 15 to 20 may join. A rented juke box furnishes music for dancing. Members operate an ice cream and soft drink bar, sweep and mop, wash windows and do other necessary work.

Speaker Warns on Optimism in War Situation

The Purchasing Agents' Association of Northwestern Pennsylvania held its regular monthly meeting Thursday evening, February 3, at the Carver House in Warren, Pennsylvania.

General commodity discussions were held with Ned Johnson speaking for the Oil Buyers group. Alfred Lauffenberger conducted the discussion on Steel, while Walter Windahl took charge of the Coal discussion and H. L. Kaness spoke briefly on the paper situation.

The principal speaker of the evening was the Reverend Norman Rawson of the United Centenary Church of Hamilton, Ontario. Rev. Rawson spoke on "Some Prospects for the Future." He emphasized very strongly that the war is far from being over. The Reverend Rawson was a Captain in World War I and saw actual fighting and knows the type of enemy we are fighting now. He pointed out that the people of this country should not become over optimistic in our beliefs that the war is nearly over due to the continued successes being reported every day. He stated that the enemy has not yet begun to fight, and that we shall have to fight, and fight hard for every inch of ground we take when our enemy makes up its mind to dig in. He further stated that when the peace does come, we will find ourselves living in a much different world, a world changed by conditions over which none of us have any control and we should be preparing ourselves now to meet this fact. He pointed out that no one nation on earth can live alone—all will be dependent on one another—and good-will between nations must prevail if we are to survive the peace.

The March meeting has been set for Thursday, March 2nd and will be held in Corry, Pennsylvania.

Seldom seen by civilians, United States Army Field Ration K (the emergency ration carried by our fighting men in battle) is now being exhibited in the lobby of the Warren Bank and Trust Company.

Three ration K units, breakfast, dinner and supper, comprise the center piece of exhibit designed to show one of the many essential things purchased by War Bonds. "BONDS FEED FIGHTING AMERICANS" is the theme of this exhibit, which dramatically emphasizes the fact that each purchase of War Bonds not only provides our fighting men with weapons and ammunition, but with food as well.

The Douglas-Guardian Warehouse Corporation, is the sponsor of this exhibit. 29 similar exhibits are now traveling to banks throughout the United States under the same sponsorship.

Metzger - Wright Boosting Bond Sale

W. H. Wright, President of the Metzger-Wright Company, this morning announced that the store had sold to date a total of $25,525 worth of War Bonds in the Fourth War Loan campaign. The store had originally accepted the suggestion of the Treasury Department that a store quota be set based on an average of $200 per employee. Since the approximate number of employees is sixty-five, this formula would have resulted in a quota of $13,000. However, a round figure of $15,000 was adopted as the goal.

Thus, the Metzger-Wright Company has more than doubled its original figure, and hopes to sell many more bonds before the campaign is over. As a matter of fact, the management has now boosted the store goal to $50,000 or more than three times the original quota. Store officials believe this goal will be achieved.

Thirty-eight of the company's sixty-five employees have sold bonds to date.

Sylvania To Erect New Shop In W. Virginia

Immediate erection of a new plant in Huntington, W. Va., to further its program of war production, has been announced by Sylvania Electric Products Inc. The plant will employ at least 2,000 people. The site purchased is the Page Estate on Jackson and Madison, between West Seventh and West Ninth.

While the contracts have not been let, it is understood that construction will start in the very near future on a two-story brick building along the modern lines of all Sylvania plants. While the plant will be built and operated by Sylvania, it will be owned by the United States Navy.

This well known manufacturer of electronic and lighting products has constantly been diverting a new system of feeder and assembly plants. This latest addition results from an inadequacy of present facilities of integrated manufacture to further absorb an ever increasing survey of all eastern and mid-western states, and was picked because it was most desirable for all features required.

Curtis A. Haines will be General Manager of this plant and will shortly announce the appointment of a resident manager. Mr. Haines and his organization will bring to this plant the same high standards of manufacturing and industrial relations on which the company prides itself.

PETITIONS ARE HERE

Nominating petitions have made their appearance in this city for James J. Davis for United States Senator. Mr. Davis is at present serving as U. S. senator from this state and is anxious to be returned. No formal announcement had been made anywhere and there was some surprise when the petitions made their appearance. Sen. Davis carried Warren county in his campaign for Governor of this state and is a popular candidate here.

PAPERS WERE DESTROYED

For the second time within a few weeks the Pittsburgh Post-Gazette failed to get to Warren this morning. The papers were on the West Ridge bus from Pittsburgh to Warren. Along the route fire started among the papers and they all were thrown out by the side of the highway. The bundles of paper are fastened with wire and this got against a bare wire in the baggage compartment of the bus and set the papers on fire. As a consequence the Pittsburgh papers did not arrive in Warren until 1 o'clock when a second shipment arrived in town.

TAKEN TO PITTSBURGH

James LeRoy Helm, 3396 Canyon Road, Ogden, Utah, alias James Allcott, who with Eugene Reynolds of Warren took the car of Police Chief George Haehn and were caught with it at Lorain, Ohio, has been taken to Pittsburgh by a United States Marshall. The boy is being held for interstate transportation of a stolen car. In the investigation by the FBI in the case it was found that the lad was a fugitive from the Ogden Industrial Home where he had been sent for car thefts. Young Reynolds will have his case disposed of by the Warren County Juvenile Courts.

Army Seeks Therapy Aides In WAAC Unit

In order to meet the urgent need of the Army Medical Department for qualified Physical Therapy Aides, women may now be recruited for assignment to special Army Physical Therapy courses, according to an announcement by Lt. Elizabeth C. Dario, District WAC Commander.

To qualify for Physical Therapy training, an applicant must be an American citizen between 20 to 44 and must have completed four years in an approved college with major emphasis in physical education, or must have completed two years in an approved college with emphasis on the biological sciences.

If accepted, the applicant must first take the regular Women's Army Corps basic training of five weeks. Then she takes an intensive training course in Physical Therapy, after which she will be assigned to a selected Army hospital for three months of actual experience.

Upon completion of training, the WACs will be appointed Army Medical Department Physical Therapy Aides with the relative grade of second Lieutenant. Assignment will be to hospitals in this country and overseas.

One of several Physical Therapy courses in the county is now in progress at the D. T. Watson School of Physiotherapy at Leetsdale, Pennsylvania, associated with the University of Pittsburgh School of Medicine. Eighteen WACs are taking the courses at the Watson School and a new class is scheduled to begin April 1, 1944. Besides attending classes and clinics at the Watson School of Physiotherapy, the WAC students take part of their course at the Medical School and Medical Center hospitals at the University of Pittsburgh.

Lt. Dario pointed out that by studying Physiotherapy now, students not only serve their country in a field having a serious shortage of personnel, but also prepare themselves for future professional work in hospitals, convalescent homes, rehabilitation programs, or physical offices.

Qualified women may apply for enlistment as Physical Therapy Aides at the Y.W.C.A. in Warren, on Wednesday, February 9th from 11:00 a. m. to 5:00 p. m.

Gas users are called upon for more conservation during the next sixty days

Telegram

Washington, D. C., Feb. 3, 1944.

Pennsylvania Gas Company

Warren, Pa.

In view of the serious natural gas shortage, I am asking your Company and every Gas Company in the Appalachian area to send a personal message from me to every residential consumer, store and factory, calling upon them to cooperate in an all-out emergency conservation in the use of gas during the next sixty days. After April there will be much less difficulty in taking care of requirements and before next winter, we expect to complete a new large pipe line from Texas which will provide an additional large source of supply for the area. However, during the next crucial two months it is absolutely necessary that every consumer reduce his consumption of gas so that we will be able to safeguard deliveries to vital War Plants.

Donald M. Nelson, Chairman
War Production Board

The Appalachian area referred to in the above telegram includes the states of Pennsylvania, New York, Ohio and West Virginia—all of their users of gas in these states are being asked to co-operate in the conservation of vitally needed gas.

Pennsylvania Gas Company asks all users in this area to comply with Mr. Nelson's message. The need is urgent and every gas user can help by conserving in the use of gas during the next 60-day period—all of the gas saved is automatically made available for war production.

"Sulfa, Please!"

A WOUNDED AMERICAN BOY lies on a jungle trail in New Guinea. A companion stoops over him. "What can I do, fella?" "Sulfa, please. They got me pretty bad." And into the stricken man's wound goes the wonder drug that will fight off infection.

Few American women know that the same used cooking fats they save in their kitchens to provide this boy with shells and bullets also help to make sulfa drugs, vaccines and scores of other battlefield essentials. No material of war that you can help provide means more in terms of his life or death. Are you saving your used cooking fats? Even the blackest fat yields crystal-clear glycerine. The need is so urgent that for every pound of fat you turn in, your butcher will give you 4¢ and two meat ration points, free. Save them in any kind of tin can, not glass. Rush them to your meat dealer. Start doing it today!

THE WAR TODAY

(Written for the Times-Mirror and The Associated Press By DeWitt MacKenzie, War Analyst)

Stalin's Red armies continue to carve their way into the Hitlerite front—further consolidation of their position about the strategic fortified center of Narva up north in the Baltic state of Estonia, another great thrust into pre-war Poland, and down in the Dnieper Bend the encirclement of five more Nazi divisions to add to the ten divisions surrounded last week.

Militarily the situation on the whole in the European theatre looks good for the Allies. Still, it seems to me that, taking the long view, the political developments which are flooding out of Moscow are even more important than the fresh gains on the battle fields. Actually, of course, it's because of the victories that we are getting the surge of political developments.

The European conflict is rapidly becoming a politico-military affair. And the whole trend seems to be in the direction of extending Russian influence westward across the continent—eastward into Asia, for that matter.

The big break came last week when we had Moscow's startling announcement extending the sovereignty of the sixteen states of the Soviet Union to include the right to establish independent diplomatic relations abroad and maintain armies. The world is still trying to figure that out. However, one thing seems clear, and this is that Moscow has created a flexible commonwealth of nations which can absorb as many foreign countries as decide they would like to join.

Today we get a follow-up. Russia intimates strongly that she plans to give the stamp of approval to the establishment of a Polish state independent of the exiled government in London as a basis for settling the hot Russo-Polish territorial dispute.

But that's only half the story. Moscow radio says the first move of the new foreign office in the Ukraine—one of the republics of the Soviet Union—will be to make a treaty with the "new" Polish government. Then, says the radio, "a new democratic Poland will arise." The broadcast didn't suggest that this new Polish government might apply for admission to the Soviet commonwealth of nations, but who says it won't? We should know the answer before long, if the Red armies continue their westward rush into Poland.

AMERICA'S CHILDREN NEED HELP

We hear much these days about what is wrong with our young people. We don't hear so much about what is right with them. Perhaps not enough of us think of what we might individually do to make things right with more of them.

Take the Girls Scouts. There are roughly about three-quarters of a million of them. They are taught honor, loyalty, friendliness, courtesy, cheerfulness, "in thought, word and deed." In war time they serve their country as farm aides and workers in victory gardens; helpers in hospitals; Red Cross workers; salvage collectors; helpers in many sorts of home defense activities. Character-building goes along with usefulness and fun. No one need worry about juvenile delinquency in connection with these girls.

But there are about 14,000,000 girls of Girl Scout age. Add to the Girl Scout enrollment the lists of other organizations in this field and still many millions are left outside—including millions of children belonging to families which are underprivileged or, because of war conditions, have been drawn away from their old neighborhoods.

What can be said about the Girl Scouts can also be said about the Boy Scouts who are observing their anniversary this week, and similar agencies. They need money and giving to them is a richly profitable investment. But they also need leadership. Right now thousands upon thousands of boys and girls who need the help and encouragement these organizations can give are deprived of it; there aren't enough adults available to teach and guide them.

Here is a chance for adults who want to do something for their communities. The need is greater than ever before. The good effects of help given now will outlast any adult's lifetime and make a healthier and happier America tomorrow.

The soldiers will come home with honorable scars, souvenirs of their grand work on the war fronts. At home in Warren our principal scars will probably be dented automobile fenders.

A One-Man Job

Washington in Wartime

By JACK STINETT

WASHINGTON—When so singular and readable a report to the nation is made as "Lend-Lease—Weapon For Victory," by Edward R. Stettinius Jr., its director from the start until a few months ago, when he became Undersecretary of State, it is worth more than passing notice.

I am reliably informed that Mr. Stettinius has ordered all his royalties turned over to Army and Navy relief funds. To have issued it as a public document, which it certainly is, would have been to hide it from the general public which, as a rule, doesn't buy public documents. There is nothing "dry as dust" about Mr. Stettinius' story. Often it is as exciting as colorful accounts of the military campaigns.

To even the most casual reader, it must be apparent how much the approximately $20,000,000,000 we have spent in food, planes, weapons, trucks and ships in aid to our Allies has saved us in lives and how far it has gone in checking the enemy until we could throw our own forces into the struggle.

IT IS hardly too much to claim that Lend-Lease turned the tide in Egypt and paved the way for our entire Mediterranean offensive. It may be denied but it can't be disproved that Lend-Lease provided that margin of supplies which stemmed the Nazi drive into Russia and even now is contributing to the great Eastern Front collapse. It is very probable that Lend-Lease to China has kept that courageous nation in the war against Japan.

Stettinius makes no simple declarations to that effect. He points out that Lend-Lease is a modest fellow, but "Lend-Lease—Weapon For Victory" is his own monument and an imposing one. Lend-Lease can weather through from here on without him and there are many predicting now that his appointment as Undersecretary of State argues a new day for the State Department. The recent sweeping reorganization there may be an indication that he already has his hand in.

up the facts, and leaves the claims to the politicians and historians. Those facts and figures give a dramatic accounting of the obstacles and the heartbreaks of the men who had to man the supply routes—the U-boat infested waters, the Burma Road, the long trek through Tiberia, the endless junket to Australia; the back-breaking air routes half around the world.

STETTINIUS starts his story well before Lend-Lease was ever heard of. He goes back to the bloody days of Dunkirk when this unprepared nation rushed off English rifles and antiquated French 75s to the beleaguered British. He tells all of the story of World War I, the real precursor of Lend-Lease. He tells of the long debate in Congress on H.R. 1776 and how it finally became a law in March, 1941.

What he doesn't tell is how after that bitter debate, when all anti-administration opposition and isolationists were waiting for the first Lend-Lease slip-up, a comparatively young fellow named Edward R. Stettinius Jr. took over and made it one of the best-administered agencies in our government.

Stettinius is a modest fellow, but "Lend-Lease—Weapon For Victory" is his own monument and an imposing one. Lend-Lease can weather through from here on without him and there are many predicting now that his appointment as Undersecretary of State argues a new day for the State Department. The recent sweeping reorganization there may be an indication that he already has his hand in.

Hollywood Gossip

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—Andy Stone, the producer-director man, is doing a favor to night club owners everywhere by proving that a night club is no place to stage a circus.

Stone is proving it the hard way. Though his intentions are scarcely philanthropic, Stone's experiences in mixing chorus girls, live music, animals and acrobats should be a lesson even to such intrepid entrepreneurs as Billy Rose, New York's impresario of the improbable.

Stone is merely making a movie. For his "Sensations of 1944" he collected an assortment of specialty acts—animals, jugglers, roller skaters, teeter-board artists, wire-walkers, singers, dancers, bands—for tap-dancing Eleanor Powell, playing a press agent, to promote. Miss Powell promotes them all by sponsoring a circus night club, and that's where the troubles began.

Stone's night club is a vast place with animal cages forming a sort of walls. Occupants of these include a lion, a tiger, a panther, a llama, and a sad, lonely-looking zebra. These contribute circus atmosphere along with an aroma not conducive either to sipping or supping, though the sleek dress extras at the tables ostensibly are doing both. The acts are presented on a big circular raised platform.

WE WENT over to see Emil Pallenberg's trained bears, Laura and Fu, perform for the camera, along with the teeterboarding Cristianis, some chorines and ice dancers David Leine, the ballet man, had done his first job of choreography for bears and girls. Russian Laura climbed a high platform, lay on her back, and began twirling a long, heavy cylinder while Siberian Fu raced around on his motorcycle. This was great fun until, with growls and a thud, Laura rolled off her perch, tossing her cylinder into the air. Fu, who wanted no part of pictures anyway, tumbled from his cycle which went hurtling toward the extras. The sleek poised extras vomited, squealing.

Mrs. Pallenberg treated Laura for shock, and then the fun went on, amid protesting growls from the bears and apprehensive glances from the extras. Fu skidded off his cycle twice more, before the six Cristianis bounced on to do standing somersaults during his exit. When Fu finally stayed mounted, some of the Cristianis held back. As Cosetta, the only girl in the troupe, said: "We can't go on where the bear is."

BUT it will all be fine in the movie, which doesn't photograph aromas and won't use the minimum. The bears will ride gaily, the Cristianis—from an old teeter-boarding family of Pisa, home of the teetering tower—will get their spectacular stunts right the first time, and no wild Indian club will be loosed by the jugglers and the sippers and supporters.

And there won't be a single shot of the mild, worried-looking gentleman on the sidelines, name of Andy Stone.

Titusville Rockets Bring a Scrappy Team Here Tomorrow For League Battle on Beaty

Warren High School's league-leading Dragons meet the Titusville Rockets tomorrow night on the Beaty Gym in one of those semi-final games that can either spell victory or defeat in the District 10 this season.

The Rockets, already victims to the locals in an earlier game, have been holding down the cellar slot for the section race this year, and on top of that have been taken over by some large margins, but their team at the start of the season was rated tops in the circuit and are due for a comeback which may occur here.

Warren has beaten every team in the league and are holding the lead at 4 to 1 at the present time, with only Meadville holding one ten-count over them, that on their first meeting. With only three games to go, the Dragons are determined to win the gonfalon that comes with copping the league and are set for the Rockets with plenty to offer.

In their first clash Warren took an early lead at the start and ran it to over double the Rocket score at the half, but were closed in on by a scrappy outfit in the final stanzas and had to fight hard to keep at the helm to the finish, coming out victors, 44 to 29 with a fine quarter spurt that netted them 11 points.

Dragons Cop Second Tilt Of Season From Youngsville 47 to 26 Saturday Night

Warren High School, the only team to beat the Youngsville Red and White cagers in two straight tussles this season, copped a hard-fought game there Saturday night, 47 to 26.

Playing before a capacity crowd, the Dragons took an early lead and held it throughout the game, but Youngsville, playing fast ball on their own wood made the local work for the triumph and always kept within distance.

To bring up a first quarter score of 13 to 9, Warren depended on the shooting of Dick Finley, crack guard of the Blue and White. Pacing his teammates to their 9th win of the year, Finley slashed the hoops for 19 points, but Woods, of the Eagles trailed just behind him with 14 to keep his mates up there.

Warren still was held down in the second session when the Eagles fought with them on even terms, getting 9 pointers to the losers 6, Joe Scalise and McLean led the attack in the period and they advanced a lead of 22 to 15 at the half.

Youngsville dropped off the pace in the third session, as the Dragons opened up the big guns and held the Dragons attack to 12 pointers, they only managed to halve that mark for themselves. Although Warren fell back from their third quarter jaunt on the scoring tables, they showed a well-oiled offense to crack open the guard of the Red and White and upset the eagles for the second time this season, winning 47 to 26.

Two Top Billings On Schedule For YMCA Court Tonight As Second Half Race Starts

Following up their successful game of Thursday night, when the National Forge and Ordnance cagers took a decision from the Sheffield O'Connors, the YMCA has two fast games on the fire for tonight when the Blomquist Furniture and the National Forge meet in the night's opener and O'Connors face Struthers in the caper.

Both games promise to be two of the best this year, and with the second half struggle just beginning, the town's non-scholastic organizations are in there fighting to take over a lead held at present by the Forgers.

National Forge won the first half title from O'Connors and the Irish are out to win every game to battle the Irvine plant out of the second half, which would leave out a playoff.

Struthers, another top team in the circuit will face the O'Connors with everything they can muster after losing twice on short counts in the first half, which should turn out to be one of the top attractions of the week.

The opening game is set for 7:00 p. m. and the second for 9.

MOOSE LEAGUE
Owing to the elimination of Irvine Confectioners and Count's Restaurant from the Moose League, the following changes have been announced by the bowling committee: C. Guiffre to Oscars; S. Cosmano to Busy Bee; J. Fielding, R. Anderson and R. Long, to Revere House; J. Cruikshank and R. Wilson to Keystone; J. Bonavita and C. Coan to Morell's; C. Field to S. S. Market; O. Schreffler, Jr., to Warren Taxi, and C. Mahood to Hendersons.

Up around the Moose alleys recently the men bowlers have been making a lot of wisecracks about their superiority over the women when it comes to spinning the mineralites. Over the weekend a match was arranged, the men feeling confident they would give the "weaker sex" a good trimming, but it turned out just the opposite, the women winning out by a score of 2472 to 2234. The big gun for the women was R. Leuthold with a 220 single and total of 576. High score for the men was A. Leuthold, with 188 for high single. The team totals:

Nelson Meets M'Spadden To Decide Title

Phoenix, Ariz., Feb. 7.—(P)—The chips were down when Harold "Jug" McSpadden of Philadelphia reached the 18th green yesterday in the afternoon round of the Phoenix open golf tournament finals.

It was there that someone told him that Byron Nelson had finished the 72 holes of play with a 273, eleven under par and appeared to be the winner. That meant McSpadden would have to birdie the last two holes to gain a tie. With the pressure on, he rammed down a 40-foot putt from the edge of the 17th green, then dropped a six-footer on the 18th for the birdies which delayed first prize presentation.

They will tee off at 2:30 p. m. today in an 18-hole playoff for the first prize of a $1,000 war bond. The loser will receive a $750 bond.

Warren National Has Exhibit Furnished By Airlines Co.

The Fourth War Loan Campaign is receiving some added publicity from a window display in one of the Liberty street windows of the Warren National Bank, which is furnished by American Airlines, Inc. The story back of the display is provided by the manufacturer in the following information.

Much has been written about the brilliant feats of our combat planes. Little is known, however, of the vast fleet of cargo planes which the domestic airlines are operating under contract to the Army Air Transport Command and which are carrying vital material to every battle front in the world. Unarmed themselves, many of them converted passenger planes formerly in domestic service, they are doggedly sticking to the job of supplying the combat zones with food and medicine, essential airplane and machinery parts and a hundred thousand different items which cannot wait for ocean transport.

While the cargo planes are carrying vital materials, transport planes of the Troop Carrier Command are flying men to the invasion fronts. The crew of every transport plane in either Army or Navy service has received its training in transport technique from one of the commercial airlines.

Many of the captains have flown for their domestic airlines most of their flying lives.

Not only are the commercial airlines doing yeoman service in the training of men and material for the Air Transport Command, but at home they are cooperating with the Army and Navy in experimental work. An American Airlines man, along with representatives of the Army and Navy and other commercial airline, spent ninety-six hours on a rubber raft in the Gulf of Mexico testing out life-raft equipment. Other tests are being made by the commercial airlines in cooperation with the government, on fuels, materials, pressurized cabins, radio and a dozen other things.

The money which is subscribed to bonds today may go not only into bombers and fighters, but into transport planes, manned by commercial airline crews, whose work has gone quietly on day and night, every day in the week, every day in the month and every day in the year since the war began.

Air Express Business Wins Public Approval

Agent Gilmore, of the Railway Express office here reports that the air express business is growing by leaps and bounds. The rates are flexible and the speed with which packages are delivered marks the service as the fastest now in existence. Mr. Gilmore states that recently a 183 pound package was delivered from Warren to the West coast in 13½ hours. On another occasion a Warren firm turned out some work and delivered it to California in 15 hours, all by air express. Each package is also insured for $50 and gets special delivery.

The American Aviation Company which operates the service out of Warren picks up on the fly packages 8x8x17 inches weighing not more than 35 pounds, but for packages above that weight the planes are landed for the pick-up. The weight on this service is limited to 200 pounds and the packages must not be more than 20x3x5 feet in size.

In addition to the air express the general business is also heavy and many shipments of machinery and machine parts are made. Last week one shipment was made which weighed 1100 pounds and nine boxes were in another shipment whose total weight was 2200 pounds.

In the group were Mr. and Mrs. Ed Mason, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Fitch, Mrs. Marie Belton, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Peck, Mr. and Mrs. Karl Petersen and Mrs. Bertha Lyons. Business sessions were followed by serving of a delicious dinner in the Clarion post rooms.

MANY AT STATION
One of the biggest crowds that has been at the Pennsylvania railroad station in many months was down last night when Train 580 left for the east. The majority of the people there were down to bid farewell to a large group of soldiers and sailors who had been home on furlough. Most of the men had their barracks bags with them and when they boarded the train they had quite a time disposing of their luggage as the train was crowded and several persons had to stand.

FLIGHT from LOVE

by JOHN C. FLEMING and LOIS EBY

SOMEHOW Chapter 7

Julie was too stunned to cry. She managed to get back into her dress and pack her bag. Her hands were icy and trembling as she lifted the phone from the cradle and called the hotel desk. "This is Julie Brampton," she heard her own voice saying. "Please give me the amount of my bill."

She remembered she had two ten dollar bills and a few singles in her purse when she paid her luncheon check. At least she could get out of the hotel. Marek had said last night at dinner, "You better get place in Studio Village within walking distance of the studio. With gas rationing on it's the smart thing to do." At the time she hadn't given it a thought. The bellboy came up for her bags. After the door to her room was closed and she was alone, she heard a ring. She knew it was Marek. Her first impulse was to run back—to tell him what had happened. But she pushed the idea from her mind. He would insist on lending her money and she didn't want that. She would find a cheap room some place.

The cab driver rubbed his chin and looked thoughtful when Julie asked about a rooming house in Studio Village.

He left her bags in the small foyer Julie rapped light on the door marked "Manager." Presently a large red-faced woman appeared in the doorway.

"Do you have any vacancies?" Julie asked.

"Only a double that a girl is in now until a single opens up. She's a nice kid. Maybe you two could take it together if Miss Morris would like an arrangement like that."

Julie hesitated.

"I don't know that I'd care to share a room with a stranger—"

THE woman's smile faded.

"Okay," she said. "I was just being helpful—knowing how scarce places are around here. Hope you can find what you want."

Julie thought suddenly of the few bills in her purse. She didn't even have taxi fare to hunt.

"Oh, I didn't mean to sound like that!" she said hurriedly. "Perhaps if the girl wouldn't mind, it might work out—for a while anyway."

"You wait here," the woman said. "I think I heard Miss Morris come in a minute ago."

When the woman had left, Julie felt a sudden impulse to cry but she fought back the tears. In a moment the landlady was back and with her came a tall, angular girl in bright green slacks. She had a splash of freckles across her nose and was smiling pleasantly.

"I think a room-mate might be fine," Kay Morris said after a quick, bright look at Julie. "Come up and look the place over."

Julie shuddered a little in the hallway as she looked around at the cheap, modern furnishings. But the apartment was bright and sunny.

"It isn't the Biltmore," Kay shrugged cheerfully, "but it is clean and new and the landlady's an old dear."

"Yes—I—that helps, doesn't it?" Julie stood confused and frightened. Could she possibly live in this garish place with this talkative girl in green slacks?

"Rent's not bad for now," the girl was running on "Fifty a month. We could go fifty-fifty."

At the mention of money, Julie's mind lapsed again into panic.

"Does that have to be—is that in advance?"

"Two weeks is the custom," Kay said.

"THAT would be $12.50 for me," Julie opened her purse, and her trembling fingers counted. She had only six dollars and some small change left. She stood there looking at the bills and then up at Kay's puzzled face. "I haven't got that much," she said. A laugh shook her—ended in a sob. She went abruptly into violent hysterics.

Kay put her arm around her and led her to a studio couch. She soothed her with calm, light-hearted assurances, and finally listened to Julie's story.

Kay grinned when Julie had finished. "But we can work something out. Wait here a minute I'll be right back."

When Kay came back she was folding a slip of paper. She put it in Julie's hand.

"That takes care of your rent for two weeks. The landlady thinks you paid it so don't tell her otherwise."

"But I can't let you do that!" Julie cried.

"You can't sleep in the park," Kay grinned.

"Of course, I'll soon be starting at the studio—"

"I gave that studio business a whirl when I first came out here," Kay said. "Don't hold your breath until they call you."

"But Marek said—" Julie started.

"I know they mean well, but they just don't reckon time like the rest of us do. Now listen kiddo. Get a job."

"But I've never worked!" Julie said.

"Neither had hundreds of others until this war started. But they're working now and doing a good job. Empire's hiring gobs of girls every day and paying good money to start."

"You mean—work in an aircraft factory?"

"Why not? I've been doing it for almost a year now and haven't wasted away."

Before the brilliant light of Kay's face, Julie's misery ebbed.

"Well—if you think they have me—" she murmured uncertainly.
